Each person on your engineering team will choose one of the grids (that are not marked in red) and build it out in using CSS grid. Once completed you will figure out how to combine your code into a single project, compress it, and submit to molly@thebanyanteam.com.

*Challenge yourself, and build more than one if you have more time.

You may use these boxes to draw out your grid template rows and columns based on the smallest sized cell in your grid.
